emergency notification for OIL & GAS COMPANIES

Powerful Technology for Alerting Workers, Customers and Others in Critical Events

Oil and gas companies produce essential products to meet global demand around the clock every day. Disruptions and safety events must be immediately addressed, with response teams mobilized and customers notified. With Send Word Now's award-winning Alerting Service, these tasks are accomplished quickly, accurately and cost effectively to ensure operations continue running smoothly.

Send Word Now is used by thousands of public and private sector organizations, including top oil and gas companies worldwide. Clients can easily alert tens of thousands of people using various communication modalities in a matter of minutes. Just as important, they can get the critical feedback needed to help ensure resolution of critical events and the safety of personnel.

With Send Word Now's powerful Alerting Service and mobile apps, oil and gas companies have the ultimate solutions for delivering rapid, automated communications during routine or urgent situations.
